For hundreds of years before the arrival of white settlers, the San Joaquin Valley was home to a group of Native Americans known as the Yokuts. The Yokuts were a peaceful group, who lived along the Kings River in villages where they hunted, fished, and gathered their food.

The first white settlement, in the area that we now call Reedley, was established by the James Smith family in 1855. The Smiths operated a ferry service and hotel on the east bank of the Kings River, near today’s Olson Avenue Bridge, until 1874.

In 1884, ten years after the ferry and hotel closed, a Civil War veteran from Ohio named Thomas Law Reed, arrived with his family from Yolo County to farm wheat. Reed was encouraged to move to the Reedley area by the 76 Land and Water Company. He was impressed by the possibilities of irrigation and purchased land from the company. Soon he was farming 12,000 acres between the King River and Smith Mountain.

In 1888, the Southern Pacific Railroad built a branch line through the area. Reed deeded a half-interest in a 360-acre town site to the railroad and in return they established a depot. The railroad named the new town “Reedley” in honor of Reed.

The rich land surrounding Reedley was dry a good part of the year, but the river made irrigation possible. Canals were built and during the 1890s wheat growing began to fade. Farmers turned to the more profitable work of growing grapes and tree fruit. The attraction was immediate, and settlers arrived from all parts of the world. Vineyards and orchards flourished. In time, Reedley became known as, “The World’s Fruit Basket.”

In 1913, twenty-five years after the town’s founding, Reedley was incorporated. Today, Reedley is Fresno County’s third largest city with a population of 26,087 – all because of the vision and hard work of early day pioneers, and of the many who followed.

"I am SO glad that I was at Sierra View Homes during the pandemic! So many of my friends were home alone and didn't see a single person all day! I would have been so lonely. Instead, we pulled together as a community, to support each other and check on each other. The pandemic showed me that my senior apartment at Sierra View is the best of both worlds. I have friendship, community, and senior resources, combined with freedom and independence. Moving to Sierra View Homes was the best choice I've ever made."
